McCORKLE AQUATIC PAVILION

Considered one of the finest competition pools and diving wells in the nation, the 1,750-seat Bill and Mae McCorkle Aquatic Pavilion's new technology provides a venue for some of the fastest times and best diving in the country.

The facility, in the heart of campus and adjacent to three other world-class facilities – Ohio Stadium, Thompson Library and the Recreation and Physical Activity Center – has earned a reputation for fast water in its five years. In fact, that's what the Columbus Dispatch wrote about the facility in an in-depth article titled "Built for Speed."

The article stated that "it's not one thing that makes this pool fast, but a collection of things – the depth, number and width of lanes, deep gutters, and water inlets at the bottom of the pool – that reduce waves."

And the July 2007 issue of Aquatics International magazine stated this about McCorkle:

"...a state-of-the-art competition pool loaded with the latest technology sets a university apart from the competition."

Completed in the summer of 2005 and dedicated October 14, 2005, the McCorkle Aquatic Pavilion is the newest addition to Ohio State's top-notch athletics facilities. The Pavilion consists of the Mike Peppe Natatorium and the Ron O'Brien Diving Well. Holding nearly 1.56 million gallons of water in the entire facility, the Pavilion is part of Ohio State's new Recreation and Physical Activity Center (RPAC).

The McCorkle Aquatic Pavilion has already hosted numerous championship competitions. Here is a look at the championship slate to date:

BILL WADLEY HEAD COACH

25TH SEASON

Bill Wadley, who is in his 25th season as Ohio State's men's swimming coach, is one of the most experienced and respected mentors in the world of competitive swimming. In the summer of 2012, Ohio State signed him to a five-year contract extension that runs through 2017.

"We are extremely excited Coach Bill Wadley will continue to lead our men's swim program," said Ohio State associate athletics director T.J. Shelton. "For more than two decades, Bill has done a remarkable job mentoring young men in our program. Well-respected within the national and international swim communities, Coach Wadley has established Ohio State as a program where the student-athletes excel in the classroom, are active in community service and have the passion and work ethic to compete for championships."

The 2010 Big Ten Conference Coach of the Year, Wadley's teams have posted six consecutive Top 20 finishes at the NCAA championships; his teams have been ranked in the NCAA Top 25 for 21 of the past 24 seasons.

Wadley's Buckeyes get it done outside of the pool, too. Last season, for instance, the team had a remarkable run in the classroom with a 3.28 overall grade point average (GPA) and earned the distinction of being a Collegiate Swim Coaches Association of America Scholar-Athlete Team.

- Three Buckeyes were named to the Big Ten's Distinguished Scholars list with GPAs above 3.70;
- Andrew Elliott was recognized as the Big Ten Medal of Honor recipient and named a Capital One Academic All-America At-Large Selection
- 38 student-athletes were honored as an OSU Scholar-Athlete; and
- 18 swimmers and divers who are at least a sophomore eligibility-wise were named to the Academic All-Big Ten Conference team.

In the spring of 2010, Wadley was named Technical Swimming Chairman for the International University Sports Federation (FISU). It is a position of utmost importance from an administrative and operational standpoint for the swimming competitions at the World University Games. Starting with the 2011 World University Games in Shenzhen, China, Wadley will be the swimming expert for the world, ensuring that the host country sets up and then runs a first-class swimming competition.

The position is appropriate for Wadley because making sure athletes receive a quality, first-rate experience is something he does every day as coach of the Buckeyes. That goal reached a pinnacle of realization this year as he coached Ohio State to a stunning and decisive win at the Big Ten championships for the school's first Big Ten crown in 54 years. He was named the 2010 Big Ten Conference Coach of the Year for his team's efforts.

Wadley, a past president of the American Swimming Coaches Association and who is now in his sixth term on the ASCA board, has coached 15 Olympians and his teams have been ranked in the NCAA Top 25 for 21 of the past 24 seasons. Buckeye swimmers and divers have qualified for the NCAA championships in 22 of Wadley's 24 years as coach.

Wadley has compiled a dual-meet record of 213-39 at Ohio State and has a career record of 237-49 in 27 seasons as a college head coach. He has produced more than 35 world-ranked swimmers and 15 of his student-athletes have reached the Olympics. Two Buckeyes competed at the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, China - Itai Cham-mah and Niksa Roki - while George Markovic qualified for the 2012 Olympic Games in London.

Wadley has coached 16 individual Big Ten champions; overall, he has mentored 26 Big Ten champions at three Big Ten schools.

Wadley has represented the United States as a coach on numerous occasions. He has coached the 1986 Olympic Festival and the 1988 and 1992 Gold Medal teams comprised of top non-collegiate swimmers in preparation for the Olympics. In 1991, Wadley coached the U.S. team at the World University Games and in 1993 he was coach of the U.S. National Team training camp. In 1998, he was chosen as the head men's coach for the Goodwill Games. The team went on to set seven Goodwill Game records. In 2009, Wadley was an assistant coach for USA Swimming for the World University Games in Bangkok, Thailand, and he served as an assistant for Team USA in the 2011 Duel in the Pool.

Outside the collegiate ranks, Wadley coached the only double gold medalist in both the 1987 and 1993 World University Games for the United States. He has coached swimmers to the Olympic level of competition for the past six Olympiads. Recent Ohio State swimmers have won a total of three gold, two silver and five bronze medals in international competition. Marko Strahija qualified for the 2000 Olympics in Sydney for his native country of Croatia, finishing ninth in the 200 backstroke. Most recently, Wadley showcased 28 current, former or incoming Ohio State men's swimmers compete at the 2012 U.S. Olympic Team Trials.

Wadley came to Ohio State after two years as the men's swimming coach at Michigan State. He also served as the MSU women's coach during his last season, guiding both teams to Top 20 NCAA finishes. This year marks Wadley's 27th as a coach in the Big Ten Conference. He started his coaching career at the University of Alabama under the tutelage of five time U.S. Olympic coach Don Gambril.

Wadley also guided the nationally ranked Joliet (Ill.) Jets swim club to a second-place finish at the YMCA nationals, where his team broke nine national records.

Wadley's system, which emphasizes a strong work ethic, discipline and the power of positive thinking, has helped the Buckeyes break 105 school records while producing 42 All-Americans. His swimmers have set 16 national and 11 Big Ten records through the years.

"The foundation of our program is technique and quality and we continually look for opportunities to help our athletes improve," Wadley said. "Challenging athletes to train and compete at the highest level is our primary goal."

During the off-season, Wadley is involved with swimming at all levels working and hosting camps and clinics around America and specifically in the Buckeye State. Wadley served as president of the American Swimming Coaches Association and is a six-time board member. He is also a Board Member of USA Swimming and frequently lectures at coaching clinics across the world.

Wadley was twice chosen to run the NCAA Yes Clinic and serves on the NCAA peer mentoring committee.

Wadley is a 1979 graduate of Austin Peay State University. He did graduate work at the University of Alabama. He and his wife, Gail, an athletics trainer at the OSU Sports Medicine Center, reside in Columbus. Bill has two sons; Brian and Michael.

JUSTIN SOCHOR

HEAD DIVING COACH

FIRST SEASON

Justin Sochor was named head coach of the Ohio State diving team, TJ Shelton, associate athletics director for sports administration, announced Wednesday. Sochor, a native of Worthington, Ohio, becomes just the fourth coach in the program's 82-year history.

"I am confident that Justin has what it takes to lead our very successful diving program both in the classroom and in the diving well," Shelton said. "During the interview process, Justin articulated a vision that would focus on the overall development of the student-athlete. We are excited to have Justin join our coaching staff at Ohio State."

Sochor, who was head coach for Team USA at the 2013 World Championships in Barcelona, is no stranger to the remarkable Buckeye diving program.

The 2010 USA Diving Junior National Coach of the Year, Sochor transitioned from a three-year stint at the helm of the U.S. Elite Diving Academy to the program manager and head coach of the Ohio State Diving Club in 2010. Sochor, who was a volunteer assistant coach for the Buckeyes from 2007-10, worked closely with former 35-year Ohio State diving head coach Vince Panzano and considers his predecessor as his coaching mentor.

"Mike Peppe, Ron O'Brien and Vince Panzano. For more than 80 years, these three men have created the finest diving community for student-athletes to achieve their highest level of success personally, competitively and academically," Sochor said. "These coaches have inspired me to continue the tradition of excellence at this great university. I am truly honored and humbled to step forward as the fourth head diving coach of the Buckeyes."

Most recently, Sochor led the Ohio State Diving Club to back-to-back overall national titles at the 2013 USA Diving Junior National Championships Aug. 10 in Minneapolis, Minn. The OSU boys club also claimed a national championship.

In 2012, Sochor left his position with the club team to take full leadership as interim diving coach for the Scarlet and Gray during the Women's Big Ten Championships. With his guidance, the Buckeyes swept the diving events as former OSU diver Bianca Alvarez dominated the 1-meter and 3-meter springboard events with scores of 360.65 and 410.65, respectively, while current OSU diver Cheyenne Cousineau completed the sweep with a winning score of 326.10 on the 10-meter platform. In 2010, he also guided the Ohio State men's squad to its first Big Ten championship in 54 years.

Sochor has coached the Buckeyes to multiple NCAA All-American performances, including first and second place finishes at the 2008 NCAA National Championships on the women's 3-meter event when Chelsea Davis and Alvarez earned the Top 2 spots, respectively.

As a coach at the junior and national team levels, Sochor has collected 78 individual national medals, including 22 golds, 25 silvers and 21 bronzes. Below are some recent successes guided by Sochor:

- 2012 Puerto Rico Grand Prix - three bronze medals - men's 10-meter synchro, women's 10-meter and women's 10-meter synchro
- 2012 Junior World Championships - bronze medal, men's 10-meter
- 2011 Junior Pan American Games - bronze medal women's 10-meter
- 2010 Junior World Championship - bronze medal, women's 10-meter
- Sochor has passion, dedication, innovation and knowledge of diving that is clear to all who meet him. He has been named head coach for many different national team competitions and is known for leading his divers to national and international success.

A former varsity diver and Cleveland State University graduate with a degree in psychology, Sochor founded American Flyers Diving, Inc. in 1996. He developed his club into one of the largest diving clubs in the Midwest, bringing nearly 100 new divers into the sport each year. As a Viking, Sochor was a four-time collegiate conference champion and was named the 1995 Athlete of the Year. From 1992-1997, Sochor was a professional high diver/entertainer at Sea World.

Sochor lives in Powell, Ohio with his wife, Katie, son, Mason and daughter, Sydney.

DAVE ROLLINS ASSISTANT COACH

SECOND SEASON

Dave Rollins is in his second season as an assistant coach for the Buckeyes. Rollins, a nine-time All-American at the University of Arizona (2003-06), joined the program with seven years of coaching experience at all levels of swimming.

In his first season with the Buckeyes, Rollins helped Ohio State finish third at the Big Ten Championships and send 11 swimmers to the NCAA Championships. He has also played a key role in helping the Scarlet and Gray secure yet another Top-15 finish in the national polls, as Ohio State was ranked 13th in the final CSCAA Division I Team Rankings and was 12th at the NCAA Championships.

Rollins came to Columbus with coaching experience at the club, high school and collegiate levels. Rollins is a former NCAA champion, nine-time All-American, United States national finalist and Olympic Trials participant.

"The facilities and the national events we host are a good indicator of the quality of the Ohio State program," Rollins said. "More importantly, coach Wadley and others have created an environment which fosters growth as students, athletes and individuals. It's an exciting, dynamic, and supportive team. My family and I are very happy to be a part of it."

Rollins is a graduate of the University of Arizona (2007) with a degree in interdisciplinary studies. While at Arizona, he established four school records and became the fastest American breaststroker in history - a record that stood for six years. He captained the Wildcats his senior year.

Following his time as a competitor, he began coaching at Tucson Ford Dealers Aquatics under Hall of Famer Frank Busch. Rollins worked with multiple Olympic and World Champion gold medalists. Moving to Northern Arizona University in 2007, he served as an assistant coach for the Lumberjacks for three seasons. While in Flagstaff, he also was head coach for Peaks Aquatic Club. In both capacities, he played a major role in impacting the quality and growth of the programs, highlighted by 12 school records at N.A.U. and moving Peaks into the U.S.A. Bronze Medal Club category.

Prior to Ohio State, Rollins was the head coach of the west satellite location for the Marlins and was an assistant with St. Xavier High School in Cincinnati, Ohio. Once again his contributions resulted in dramatic results. The Marlins captured three Ohio Age Group Championships. Rollins also worked with Olympic Trial qualifiers as well as national and junior qualifiers along with national and state record holders. His efforts with the Aquabombers were equally productive, as he was part of two Ohio Championships, while coaching 11 All-Americans. Three of his Cincinnati athletes are now Buckeyes.

A native of Brocton, Mass., he and wife Caroline Keefe Rollins welcomed their first child, Alice, this past fall.
